

Questions for Reflection

The Cliché Christian

What is your initial internal reaction when someone says they are a Christian?

If you would describe yourself as a Christ-follower, do the stereotypes about Christianity make you hesitant to tell people?

Have you ever had an experience with a Christian that left you feeling offended?

What draws you to church and/or pushes you away?

Where do you find meaningful community? Church, the coffee shop, walking your dog with your friend? What does meaningful community look like for you?